

Fast grower wins award

The key management team of Platinum Electrical Contractors and John Wood: (l to r) Samantha Robson, Rachel Favre, David Vella, Alana Nicholls, Joshua Nicholls, John Wood (Panasonic Australia), Alex Johnson and Denis Matijevic.

ONE of the many booming businesses in Blacktown, Platinum Electrical Contractors won a highly prestigious award recently.

The company was named winner of the Panasonic Australia Business Award at the 2007 NSW Telstra Business Awards at the Westin Hotel in Sydney on July 27.

The award is given to outstanding businesses with more than 20 employees but less or equal to 50.

The director of Platinum Electrical Services, Mr Joshua Nicholls, was thrilled with the award and said his staff have played an integral part in the success of the company.

"Winning this award is a great achievement for the whole team at Platinum Electrical," he said.

"This exciting win, with a list of other business award accomplishments, will build an even stronger and more reputable brand in the marketplace."

Platinum Electrical Contractors was formed in 2001 but have already grown and solidified as a leading business in Blacktown and Greater Sydney.

The company now employs over 30 staff who operate out of mobile service vehicles specialising in electrical installations, repairs and maintenance.

The innovative company also introduced wireless pen-pads for job sheet details to speed up response times. In 2006 it was listed in Business Review Weekly as one of the fastest growing start-up companies in Australia.

The winners of the NSW Telstra Business Awards will compete at the national titles on September 21 when one company will be crowned the 2007 Telstra Australian Business of the Year.